

STRATEGIC

PLAN

2023 - 2026

PACIFIC
LUTHERAN COLLEGE

PURPOSE, ENGAGEMENT, CO-AGENCY

DR BRONWYN DOLLING, PRINCIPAL

We are excited to share the Pacific Lutheran College 2023-2026 Strategic Plan. This plan has been developed through collaboration with students, staff, parents and College Council members. Student voice at our 2022 Strategic Planning day provided important insights. The plan incorporates consideration of global, national and local factors both present and future, the Alice Spring's (Mparntwe) Declaration, the resources of the OECD, Lutheran theology and research including that generated within Harvard's Project Zero team, positive psychology and wellbeing.

The need for all people to have agency to improve their own lives, the lives of other people and the environment is increasingly important as we negotiate a rapidly changing world. To have effective agency, people need to grow across all dimensions of life. Pacific captures this richness of growth within the Four Pillars of Learning; Learning to Be, Learning Together, Learning to Learn and Learning to Know and Do. In Learning to Be we grow in our understanding of ourselves, our relationships with people, God, the universe and the environment, through Learning Together we grow to live and work effectively with people, in Learning to Learn we are inspired to be curious and effective life-long learners and in Learning to Know and Do we become highly skilled knowledgeable confident contributors to community.

The attributes developed across each of the Four Pillars provide the grounding, flexibility and capacity to live with purpose, and engage with confidence to exert agency to make a difference for people and the environment. Pacific believes that all people are learners and schools provide a rich environment for students, staff and parents to act and grow together in enhancing the lives of people and the planet.
